PROGRAMA CRIS DE LÍDER EMERGENTE 2025

Objective	CRIS Cancer runs a programme to award 2 research grants as part of the CRIS Emerging Leader Programme, each covering a five-year period, for the purposes of recruiting researchers to develop their activity at any institution in Spain. The application will be submitted by the candidate, who will maintain scientific responsibility, supported by the receiving institution. The programme invites applications from all researchers who have completed a doctorate between 4 and 10 years prior to the year in which this call is published. The type of research that CRIS Cancer aims to promote with this programme is that with the highest potential for application in patients, so the awarded projects must be highly translational or be developed in collaboration with a clinical team. The candidate does not necessarily need to be employed by the receiving institution at the time of application.
